FOREWORD

In Books lies the soul of whole last Time; the articulate audible voice of the Past when the material substance of it has altogether vanished
like a dream -

All mankind has done,
gained, or been; it is
lying in magic preservation in the pages of Books.

-Carlyle-
When the body and material substance of the Past has vanished like a dream may this volume of THE CHIEF be a reminder of the Past.

DEDICATION

In appreciation of his untiring efforts
in aiding us to build a foundation for our future life, we, the Senior Class of 1941
of the Sanger High School, dedicate this annual to our splendid
principal and sponsor,

CLASS PROPHECY

Since I had an over-whelming desire to know what was in the future for the Class of '41, I visited a Clairvoyant and asked to gaze into the "Crystal Ball" that my curiosity might be satisfied. To my amazement, the revelations were astonishing. I shall try to give you some idea of what the gods have in store for us.

Billie Tuone and Joy Seely had settled all their difficulties and lived in New York, where he carried the pig skin for a noted professional team.

Shades of the gods! Was I seeing things? Was that "Hula" dancing teacher really Dorothy Tarver? Yes, and she was doing the step to perfection. The scene suddenly shifted and there was Geraldine Jones, a sophisticated movie star, topping even Hedy Lamarr in beauty and charm, while Dee Ester Bishop was making herself as famous as Lillian Russell in the metropolitan.

Wayne Pate was a dentist who could find any cavity that had been misplaced. Rolene Mundy was showing a famous basket ball team how to find the basket. And Barney McAfee!! Why he was a reformed person and a minister of the gospel.

In the distance I saw the big tops of a circus. On drawing nearer the names of Stinson and Hassenpflug greeted my eyes. Two glaringly advertised attractions were James Cook, the Tall Man and Minnie Ola Kelly, the exceedingly Fat Woman.

Jimmy Joe Waide had realized her life dream and was happily married to the captain of the "U.S.S. Nightmare." Monroe Davidson was the king of a spaghetti house in "Horseshoe Bend" and, believe it or not, that slender trim figure had become a second Jimmy Jeffries.

Mary Alice McReynolds was a "Woman in White" and had a habit of falling in love with each of her male patients. Harold B. King had become a dead man's friend--incredibly enough--an undertaker.

I noticed from an attractive sign on Main Street, that Lois Blakely had risen to fame as the owner and operator of the "Pugsy" Beauty Salon in Argyle.

Cecil Vaughan had organized his personal chorus of whistlers. Of course, they were ladies, for he was still a ladies' man. Our classmates were well supplied with musical blood in their veins, for Lewis Harris was the leader of the "Jamin' Jitterbugs" a googie woogie swing band.

Idalene Scheu had become the No. I Debutante of the year (still having her eighteenth birthday).

Looking through a local paper, I noticed that Carrell Lancaster had risen to the height of a severe professor of English in the Texas State College for Women and doing quite well among the women. We think that he was happily married to Novice Reynolds, the Dean of Women and Master of Dramatics in the same school.

Billie Jean Amyx had moved to Tioga to be near her good friend, Faye Rickett, and to try to catch the "Autry" spirit.

This class of '41 had risen to fame in many fields. Pauline Christian had become an air stewardess on the Trans-Pacific Airlines. Kyker Smith was gaining publicity as a comedian on a weekly hook-up over station N-U-T.

Willie Faye Selzer was still wearing her favorite color--Brown--but in a different way--she married him.

Bob Hood had become noted in still another field. He was a great stage actor and had filled the title made famous by John Barrymore--"The Great Profile".

Ben Harvey was the advertising manager of Oklahoma's leading newspaper the Hukoy Chronicle; while Gene Tarver, a notorious gangster, was wanted for murder in three states and for four years back alimony.

VOLLEY BALL GIRLS

The volley ball girls entered several tournaments in the county and won first place in Class A in the County Meet. The school bought six new suits this year and the girls were very proud of them. More girls came out for volley ball this year than ever before.

Joy Seely, a very efficient and dependable player, leaves the team since she is a senior. Joy has lettered four years in volley ball, and she kept up the fighting spirit among the girls.

Billie Adele Burroughs, a junior, proved to be a good player for her first year. She practiced with the intentions of making the team and this she did.

Frankye Jo Brown, who was Lucille's right hand partner, was a dependable server and driver. Frankye Jo is a junior, too.

Lucille Holder, the team's captain and a good one, was the wizard at driving the ball. If once Lucille drove one it was well driven. She was dependable at any position on the court. She is a sophomore.

Ouida Miller, a junior and co-captain of the team, did her best playing at the net as a driver. She was a good sport and always had a smile whether victory or defeat came our way.

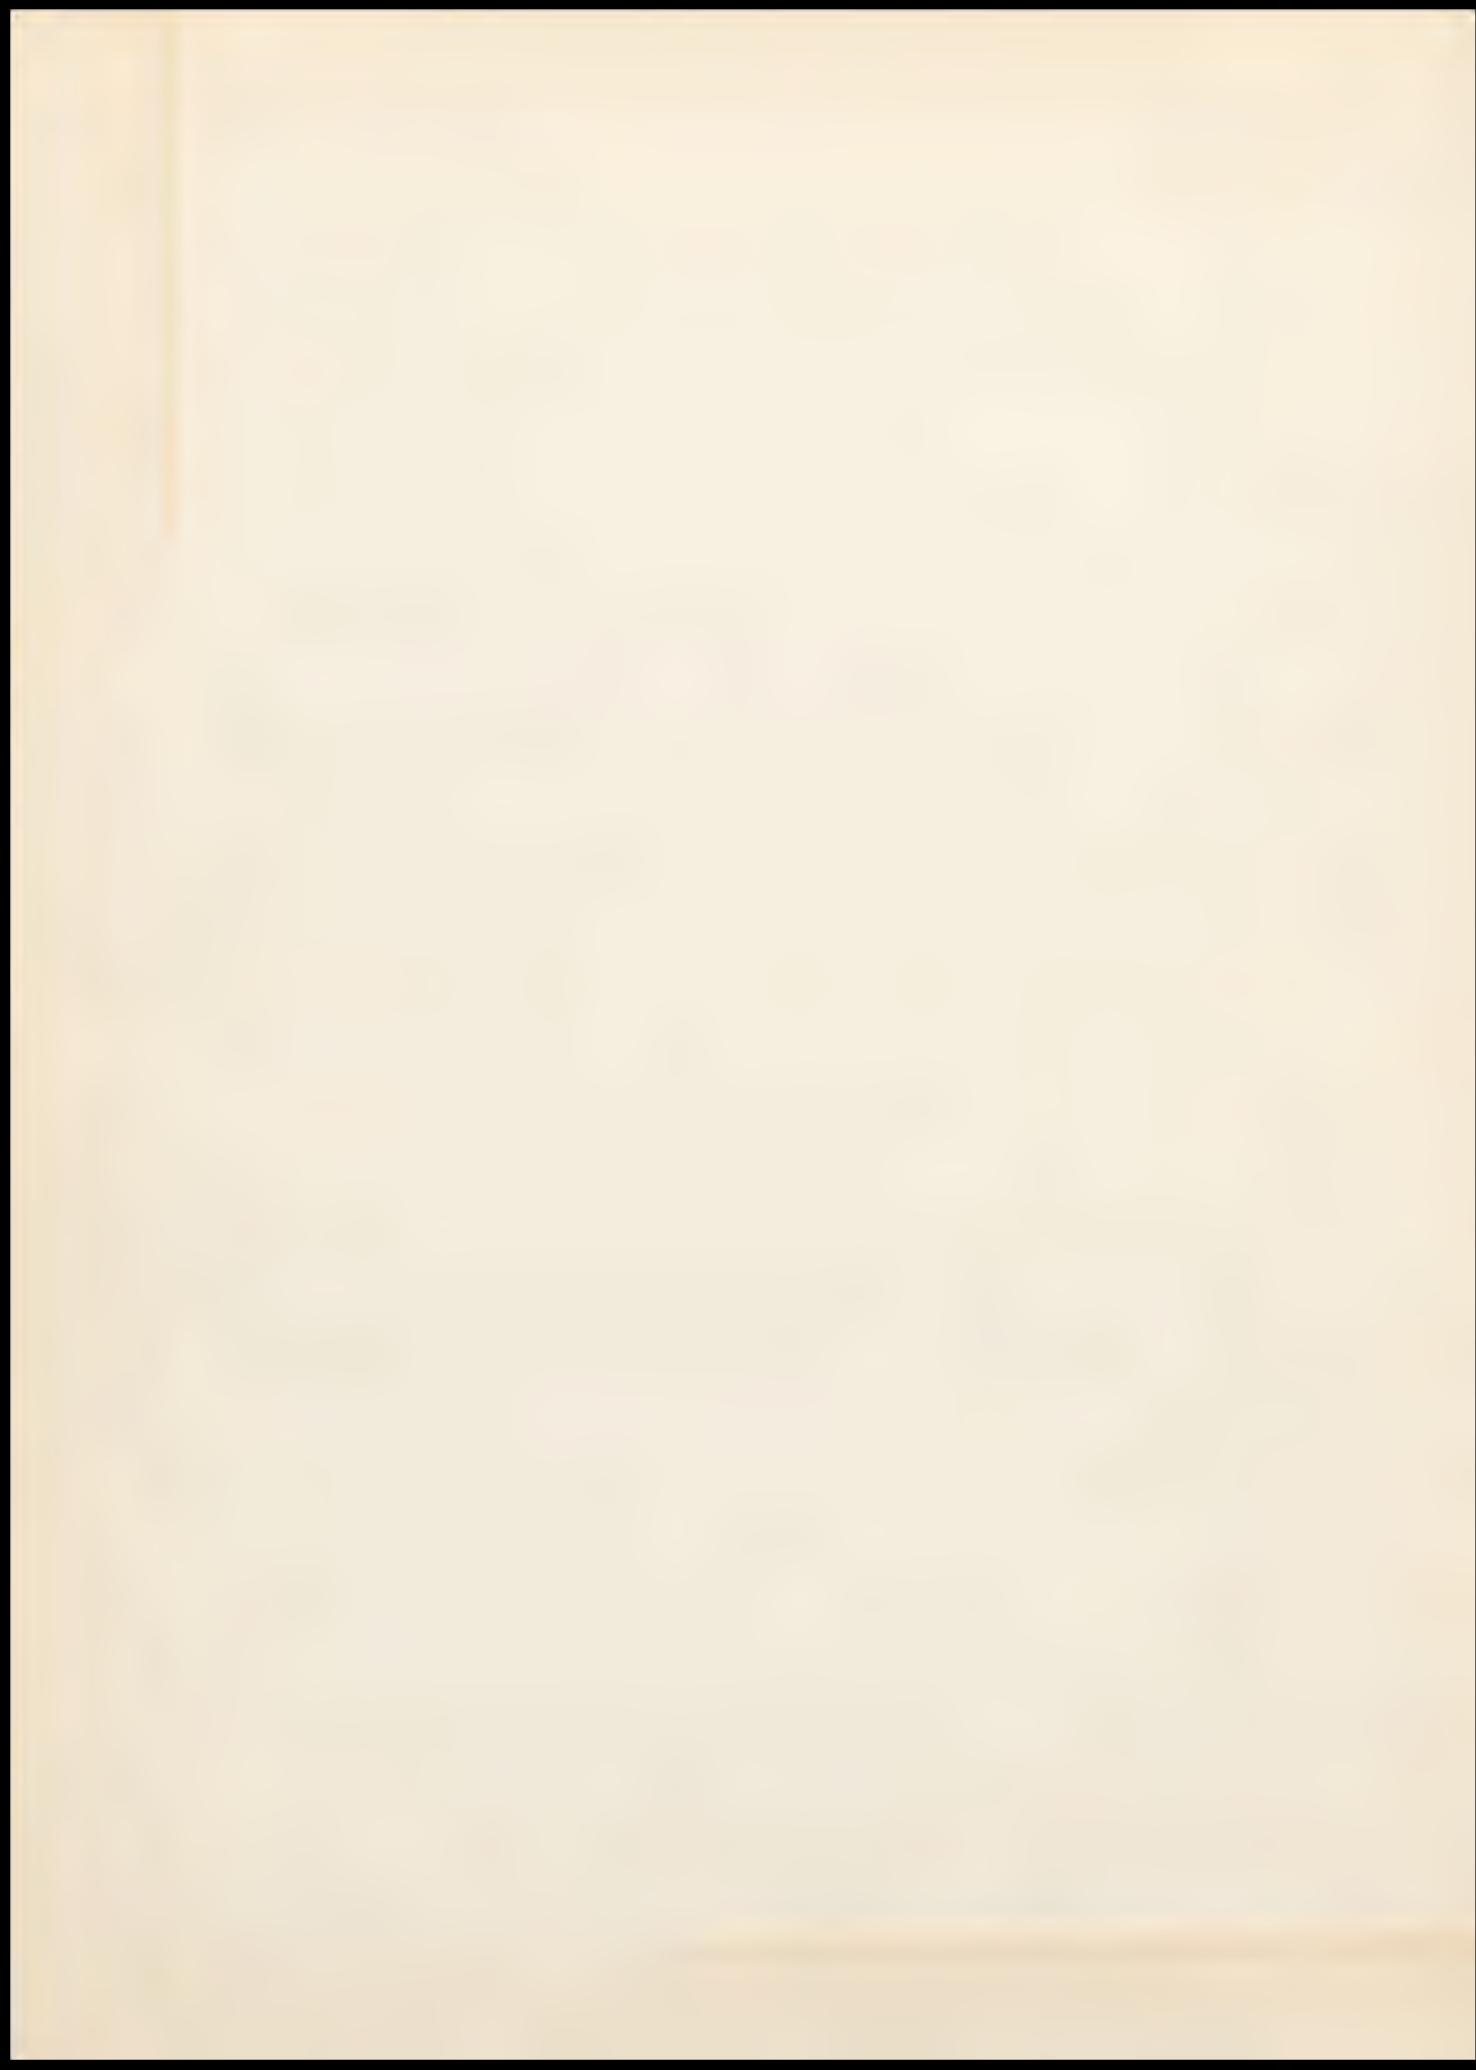

Mary Hampton, the high point player on the team brought Sanger through many tights with her hard, swift serving and good driving. This is her second year; she is also a sophomore.

Mildred Willis, a sophomore, has played on the team two years and is a good player.

Miss Stinson, our coach, encouraged the team on to many victories. She was patient and the girls thought very much of her as the coach of the season of 1940-1941.

Mary Alice McReynolds, a senior, and her first year to play was an encouraging substitute to the team. Mary played in several games. She was a good player.

Other substitutes: Emma Lee Green, Lottie Carr, Ethel Faye Robinson, Ruelene Wilson, Nannie Pearl Christian.

FOOTBALL

Harris: Lewis, a senior, who weighs 150 pounds played end this year. He was a good pass receiver and good defensive man.

Tarver: Gene, a senior, played tackle. He played best when the going was rough, although he weighed only 145 pounds.

Hassenpflug: Wallace, a senior, who played his first year as guard. He weighed only 145 pounds but proved himself a very valuable player.

Mundy: Pluto was shifted to center this year and also called signals. He weighed 165 pounds and was a senior.

Toone: Billy, a senior weighing 165 pounds, was shifted from center to the fullback position where he did a fine job. He was good on line bucks and in defensive work.

King: Harold B. weighing 140 pounds and a senior, played half-back where he was very capable. He was a fast and shifty ball carrier who passed, kicked and called signals.

Stinson: Junior, a senior, who weighed 150 pounds, was the speedster of the squad. He was a very dangerous broken field runner, and a good pass receiver.

Giles: Jerry, played two positions this year; he alternated at tackle and fullback. He was a very rugged player, weighed 165 pounds. He has another year.

Farrel: "Cotton", a junior, ran from quarterback hole this season. He is a good blocker and a powerful runner, weighing 150 pounds.

Rector: Ray, weighing 140 pounds, was a sticky-fingered end, a good blocker, and a good defensive man. He has two more years.

Boydston: Calvo, alternated at guard and tackle this year. He has two more years to play.

Smith: Jesse, played guard this year. He is a sophomore.

Ready: Bobby, a sophomore, was the little man of the squad this year. He weighed a big 105 pounds, was substitute quarterback.

Kline: Dick, a sophomore, was a substitute end this year and did a nice job of filling in.

Squadmen were--Fred Scheu, Loyd King and Virgil Ward. Allred lettered but dropped from school.

BASKETBALL

Harris: Lewis, a senior, played his first year. What he lacked in ability he made up in hustle.

Smith: Ryker, a senior, played his first year and his ability was not realized until he was unable to play for a while.

Pate: Wayne, a senior, who played his first year, was a fast man with lots of hustle.

King: Harold B., a senior who lettered for two years, was the "Quarterback" of the team and scored many points from his guard position.

Mundy: Pluto, a two-year letter man and a senior, was the point maker of the team. What he lacked in hustle he made up in accuracy.

Helton: John, a senior who received his first letter, improved as the season progressed and made the team a good man.

Toone: Bill, a senior who lettered for two years, is a tall, rangy boy who played guard but did not let it interfere with his point making, being good on rebounds.

McClendon: "Two-Gun", a junior, was the best hustler of the squad as well as the smallest. He could cover any big man and was good on long shots from the side. This was his first letter, and he will be back next year.

Squadmen who will be back are juniors: "Cotton" Farrell, Jerry Lee Giles, Wallis Toothaker; Sophomores; Dick Kline, Charles Ezell, Joe Dale Ashcraft and Sam Lewis. From this group we should have a strong team.

SANGER CHAPTER OF FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF TEXAS

The Club had as its theme for the year, "The blessings of liberty are ours to enjoy." We started our year's work by having our first program for the public in the city park.

We have had a successful social season. This was made possible, to a great extent, by the Future Farmers of our school. A theater party, a Christmas, a Valentine, and a skating party are among our activities.

Our organization entered the County Fair patriotic parade. The entire club attended the State Fair in Dallas. Members of the club attended both area meetings of Future Homemakers and four representatives were sent to the State Rally in San Antonio.
